The S.T. Lee Endowed Lecture Series

Dr. Seng Tee Lee | Donor

“Geopolitical Realities and Economic Opportunities in Today’s China”

Professor SHEN Dingli
Fudan University | Shanghai

Tuesday | August 24, 2010 | 4:30pm
John E. Simon Hall | May Auditorium
The S.T. Lee Endowed Lecture

Created in 2009, The S.T. Lee Endowed Lecture series offers unique opportunities for students at Washington University to learn about issues of global leadership. The series has been made possible by a generous gift from Dr. Seng Tee Lee, through his establishment of The S.T. Lee Endowed Lecture Fund to the McDonnell International Scholars Academy, and it hosts distinguished guest speakers in business, academia, government, and the nonprofit sector from around the world.

PROGRAM

4:30pm  INTRODUCTION
        Chancellor Mark S. Wrigton

4:45pm  LECTURE
        Dr. Shen Dingli
        “Geopolitical Realities and Economic Opportunities in Today’s China”
        Simon Hall - May Auditorium

5:30pm  RECEPTION
        Simon Hall - Upper Level

GUEST SPEAKER

→ DR. SHEN DINGLI
is a professor of international relations at Fudan University, Shanghai. He is the Executive Dean of Fudan University’s Institute of International Studies, and Director of Center for American Studies. He co-founded and directs China’s first non-government based Program on Arms Control and Regional Studies at Fudan. Dr. Shen teaches international security, China-U.S. relations, and China’s foreign policy, in China, the U.S., and the Semester at Sea program. His research and publications cover China-U.S. security relations, regional security and international strategy, arms control and nonproliferation, foreign and defense policy of China and the U.S., and other topics. He is Vice President of Chinese Association of South Asian Studies, Vice President of Shanghai Association of International Studies, and Vice President of Shanghai Committee of Pacific Economic Cooperation. He received his Ph.D. in physics from Fudan in 1989 and did his post-doctoral studies in arms control at Princeton University from 1989-1991. He was an Eisenhower Fellow in 1996, and in 2002 advised the then UN Secretary General Kofi Annan on strategic planning for his second term. He is on the Global Council of the Asia Society and was appointed by the Shanghai Municipality as Shanghai’s Conference Ambassador. Dr. Shen has co-edited 18 books and published 1,300 articles and papers worldwide, including: “Can Sanctions Stop Proliferation” (Washington Quarterly 2008), “Cooperative Denuclearization toward North Korea” (Washington Quarterly 2009), and “Opportunities for UK-China Cooperation on Nuclear and Radiological Security” (Survival 2010).
The McDonnell International Scholars Academy Thanks You for Your Attendance